The Pet Industry is a $31 Billion annual business and growing...

If you are looking for a get rich quick scheme, keep looking, this isn't it. But if you are sincerely looking for a means of making a comfortable living at home or just a secondary income while doing something that is both legitimate and enjoyable, then you owe it to yourself to consider breeding parakeets, cockatiels, lovebirds, finches and other pet birds. The pet bird business is a little known, but well established business that is over 100 years old, with most birds being raised by mom and pop operations throughout the country. Most people are simply unaware that this market exists and that these birds can be raised in any area of the country.

My name is James McDonald and during the past 25 plus years I have sold approximately one million pet birds. Although we raised many birds ourselves, we simply could not keep up with the demand and for 18 years we helped other people from all walks of life in our area start their own successful pet bird business breeding parakeets, cockatiels, lovebirds and finches to help us keep up with the growing demand. As their testimonials clearly indicate, many of these people were able to greatly improve their lifestyles as a result of the pet bird business. This is an excellent opportunity for retiree's, stay at home moms, or anyone who can devote a little time each week to a business that is both enjoyable as well as rewarding. While some bird breeders are only looking for supplementary income, others decide to turn it into a full-time business.

What started out as a part-time business for my wife, turned into a full-time family business that allowed us the opportunity to work at home, make an extremely good living, take wonderful vacations, send our boys through college, and take an early retirement.

The pet bird business is not a fly by night scheme or fad. It has stood the test of time. Breeding parakeets, cockatiels, lovebirds and finches has been around since the turn of the century, through good times and bad, and the future looks as good as ever. Please be sure and read the testimonials in this website to see what the pet bird business has done for others. These are real statements from real people who have enjoyed the benefits of breeding parakeets, cockatiels, lovebirds and finches for profit. This is a business where you pay no franchise or other fees. You simply have your own business raising pet birds for the pet industry.

Only recently have I had the time to devote to writing a book to show others how to do what we and many others have successfully done. The Complete Guide to Raising Pet Birds for Profit - The Greatest Backyard Business Ever is over 250 pages of proven methods to enable you to succeed in the pet bird business. It is written in simple, easy to understand language by someone with 25 years of experience raising and marketing exotic birds and animals.

But this is much more than a book. You will be purchasing 25 years of collected information that is based on the time tested and proven methods of someone who has actually "been there and done that".

In addition to breeding parakeets, cockatiels, lovebirds and other pet birds, it includes detailed information on how to become a full-time wholesale distributor of pet birds with an income that can exceed $100,000 annually.

So if you love pets, (and I believe that is important), here is an opportunity to enjoy your own business while staying at home, on either part-time or full-time basis that can literally change your life.
